

Keeping Each Other Healthy

We are excited about gathering with you live and in person at Collaborate Live. A few respiratory viruses are circulating these days, including COVID-19, which is on the rise.

Here's what we, the 40+ FirstWatch teammates who will be joining you at Collaborate Live, will be doing to help keep you safe and disease-free.

- We will test for COVID-19 before the conference and will not participate if we are positive.
- If any team member experiences any symptoms, we will not participate in the conference.
- Some of us, who are extra cautious, will be masked during the event.
- The hotel has good circulation, and the main room will have air cleaners.
- We will have N-95 masks, hand sanitizer, and COVID tests available on-site.

Here are the virus safety practices. We invite you to consider yourself and your fellow participants.

- Get vaccinated.
- Test yourself for COVID-19 before you come. One of our conference planners did a random Covid test before coming to a company meeting a couple of weeks ago and was surprised to test positive with almost no symptoms.
- Use a properly fitting N-95 or KN-95 mask if you choose.
- Wash your hands regularly with soap and water, and use hand sanitizer when soap and water are unavailable.
- If you experience any symptoms, even mild ones, we encourage you to mask and not participate in conference activities. If you get sick during the conference, please let us know. We are happy to help take care of you.

We hope to send everyone home with new knowledge about data without a virus.
